BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

Cecile C. Crandall (1892-1987) was born Cecile Courtney Crandall on January 28 1892 as the youngest of eight children in Norfolk, Virginia. After the death of her mother in 1902, she lived with an elder sister in New York. In 1905, she moved to Boston to live with another elder sister, Margaret, and her husband Charlton Miller. Miss Crandall graduated Newton High School in 1911 and graduated from Fitchburg Normal School in 1919. She went on to teach at Newton Highlands. Miss Crandall married Harry Burrows in 1922. Mr. and Mrs. Burrows had two sons from his previous marriage and one son together, Henry Cragin Burrows, Jr., born in 1923. Mrs. Burrows died in 1987.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The scrapbook contains photographs and materials that document Miss Crandall’s time as a student at Fitchburg Normal School and her early teaching career. It includes photographs, programs, certificates, letters, bookmarks, cards, song books, notices of pay raises, and one drawing that reflect school activities and the start of her career. The scrapbook was originally Miss Crandall’s chemistry notebook from her 1909/1910 junior year of Newton High School of which she later turned into a scrapbook. A majority of her chemistry notes can still be viewed on the pages.

This collection consists of a single item and is not arranged in any way. The collection had been listed under Miss Crandall’s maiden name instead of her married name due to possibility of records of her time at Fitchburg Normal School existing under her maiden name. Due to conservation concerns loose items were removed from the scrapbook and foldered according to page number. Please see Librarian for a list of identified images.
